DESCRIPTION:

Children's Lighthouse often yields to political activism in shaping corporate governance, potentially alienating consumers, dividing employees, and harming shareholders. The company elevates merit, excellence, and integrity ahead of race and identity-based policies. Children's Lighthouse occasionally embraces corporate initiatives that redirect its central focus from business goals to partisan policies and divisive issues at times. This approach fails to safeguard free exercise, free speech, and free enterprise.

Two employees at a Children's Lighthouse location in Texas were terminated for questioning the school's decision to recognize a 6-year-old student as transgender. One of the employees expressed that she couldn't agree with the decision due to her religious beliefs (1)(2). The employees allegedly filed a wrongful termination claim with the EEOC, though it is unclear what resulted from that claim.
